Local woman faces charges in poisoning

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus woman charged with poisoning her 7-year-old daughter was ordered last week to face further prosecution on the charge.

Rosalynn Chatman, 24, is charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

In November, she told police her daughter burned her mouth with tainted halloween candy. Approximately one week later, Chatman allegedly took responsibility for the injuries that resulted in a hospital stay for the young girl.

Judge Henry Zaborowski of the 34th District Court bound Chatman over to Wayne Circuit Court after her Jan. 25 preliminary examination.

Bond remains at $500,000 despite an unsuccessful attempt by Chatman's attorney to lower the amount. She remains in the Wayne County jail.

Chatman will have a second arraignment in county court Feb. 8.

Prior to the recent proceedings, she underwent psychological testing to ensure she was competent for trial.

Meanwhile, Chatman's daughter has been placed in foster care. Police officials said she has recovered from her injuries. A Jan. 19 hearing to determine long-term placement for the girl has been postponed to March 15.

Police claim Chatman's daughter suffered burns to the throat, lips, chin and tongue. Her mother took her to the hospital Halloween night.

Chatman told police the girl recently tasted a piece of peanut butter candy and immediately spit it out, implying the candy was tainted.

After several interviews with police officials, the young woman was asked to participate in a lie detector test. At that point, police said, Chatman admitted she tried to kill her daughter.

In her statement to the police, Chatman claimed she could not make her daughter happy and wanted a painless death for her.

She admitted to placing a spoon of crystal drain cleaner in the girl's mouth, assuming it would poison her, police officials said.

Minutes later, the woman heard her daughter screaming, she told police. After stopping at the home of the girl's grandmother, Chatman drove her daughter to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. The girl was eventually transferred to Mott's Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor for treatment.

Police officials said Chatman's candy story had been shaky from the beginning.

The peanut butter candy the girl tasted was taken to the Michigan State Police Lab where it tested negative for a lye-based substance.

Hearing delayed for homicide suspect

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Court proceedings for a Romulus man charged with the beating death of his father have been delayed to make time for psychological testing.

James Curtis, 29, is charged with the first-degree murder of Walter Curtis, 62. He was arrested Jan. 7.

He is also charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the beating of his mother, Alta, 62.

Alta Curtis was released Jan. 23 from the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor. When she was initially admitted, she was listed in critical condition.

Curtis was scheduled for a Jan. 17 preliminary examination in the 34th District Court. Proceedings were canceled when Curtis was transferred to the county forensics department. There, officials will determine whether Curtis is competent to stand trial.

Testing may delay court proceedings up to 30 days, Romulus police officials said.

When the process is complete, police officials will have a five-day period to arrange another court date.

Curtis allegedly telephoned police early in the morning Jan. 7, saying there had been a murder and break-in at his parents' Ecorse Road home.

Upon arrival, police officers discovered Walter and Alta Curtis in a bedroom. Walter Curtis was pronounced dead at the scene.

Alta Curtis had been beaten severely. Unconscious, she was transferred to the hospital.

Police officers arrested Curtis after interviewing him at his parents' home.

Curtis was allegedly wearing a tether device at the time. Law enforcement agencies use the electronic device to monitor the location of the wearer.

Curtis was wearing a tether as part of his sentence for a 1988 conviction of carrying a concealed weapon in a vehicle, police said.

Gusting winds lead to damage in community

High gusts of winds Jan. 25 swept through the area creating a busy afternoon for the Romulus Police Department.

Weather reports that day said winds hit 50 mph.

Lt. Robert Brown said the department received seven reports of downed wires that afternoon.

Also, the winds created a power failure at the Omnicom Cable facility at Huron River Drive. When power was restored the following day, programming for several community channels had been erased. Programming is expected to be replaced by the end of the week.

Displaced Romulus wetlands may be put in Sumpter Township

Five hundred acres in Sumpter Township are being considered as a site to re-establish wetlands slated to be displaced by Metro Airport expansion.

Under state law, wetlands are protected and cannot be developed for other uses.

In wetland areas, such as those in the proposed Metro airport expansion site, the developers may petition the Department of Natural Resources to set aside another site as a wetlands.

The DNR may consider mitigation proposals on-site where practical and beneficial, or, if not possible, in the immediate vicinity of the site within the same watershed of the proposed project.

Jack Durbin, deputy director of the Wayne County Department of Public Works, presented proposals for the wetlands designation to the Sumpter Township Board at a recent study session and board meeting.

In his presentation, Durbin suggested that wetlands, such as lakes, could be used as a recreation area, and other areas could be kept permanently moist to support wildlife.

No sites have been selected, but possible locations for the wetlands are expected to be identified by the end of the month following a study by the county and township engineers.

Among the concerns that have been expressed by township officials is the loss of potential tax revenue on land which is set aside as a wetland. Sumpter Township Supervisor Marvin Banatoli has announced his intention to protect the township from economic loss if the wetlands area is established there.

The re-established wetlands would have to be adjacent to or within existing watersheds and provide relief to areas most needing storm water drainage. The areas also should not displace existing residences, prime agricultural land or significant tree formations, according to state regulations.

Sumpter Township has one of the highest water tables in the county, and, consequently, has been affected by seasonal flooding and runoff problems. The township is being considered as a wetlands site, Durbin said, because the county is working on the consolidation of drainage within Sumpter Township.

Permits reduce sewer overflow

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

The state Department of Natural Resources this year is attempting to reduce overflow from combined sewage systems.

Local and state authorities have said the problem will be addressed through a new permit system, requiring water to be treated before it is released from combined systems.

Combined sewage overflow results when storm and sanitary water, sent through the same system, overburden the system and cause excessive flow.

Ted Starbuck, of the Southeast Michigan Coalition of Governments, said the problem is especially bad in small communities and in older urban areas.

"In some cases, (the systems) become so overloaded that they overflow way too frequently," Starbuck said.

According to a report released by Clean Water Michigan, there are 81 sewage overflow points in the state, including Belleville Lake in Belleville and various points on the Rouge River in Westland and Inkster.

The report said as many as 20 billion gallons of contaminated water finds its way into state waterways each year as a result of combined sewage overflow.

Starbuck said the attempt by DNR to deal with the problem is important.

"Money has previously not been available for the problem because it has gone to treatment facilities," Starbuck said.

With the new DNR permits requiring communities deal with the problem, there may be a variety of methods that local officials will choose, he said.

"Some communities may find it cost effective to separate their systems," Starbuck said. "Other communities may find it better to capture the overflow in a retention basin."

"Some of the smaller communities and the older urban communities will be hit hardest by this," Starbuck said.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Party store is robbed

An armed robbery was reported Jan. 27 at a Romulus party store at the 37000 block of Eureka Road.

A store employee told police the store was robbed by two armed men, one carried a sawed off shotgun. The other reportedly had a handgun.

The men allegedly instructed the employee to lie on the floor. They then took money from the counter, police said.

No one was injured.

Police said the culprits left the store in a black four-wheel-drive truck without a license plate.

The first suspect is described as being a white male, between 30 and 35 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds with short, brown curly hair and a mustache.

Police describe the second suspect as an Hispanic male, 20 to 25 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall and stocky with long black hair.

Any one with information is asked to call the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

Stolen truck is recovered

Hours before a pick-up truck was reported stolen from Romulus, Detroit police officers reported the vehicle found.

The brown 1985 pick-up truck was reported missing at 10:30 p.m. Jan. 26.

Police said the vehicle was valued at $8,000.

When Romulus police ran a computer check on the car, they learned a stripped version of the vehicle had been discovered in Detroit.

All doors and seats had been removed from the vehicle, police said.

Awards dinner is planned

Members of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce are extending invitations to the 10th Annual Romulus Person of the Year Awards Dinner Dance.

This year, the event will be staged in honor of Mary Ann Banks, former mayor pro tem of Romulus.

The event is planned for March 2 at the Hilton Inn, 31500 Wick Road.

Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., and dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m. An open bar will be available.

Donations of $30 per person must be received at the chamber office by Feb. 23. The office is located at 31200 Industrial Drive, within the Holiday Inn-Detroit Metro Airport.

For more information, call 326-4296.

Search continues for volunteers

Members of the Romulus Festival Committee continue to search for volunteers to help with the 1990 festival.

Demand is high for people to help with public relations, publicity and advertising.

The committee is also looking for a nonprofit organization interested in co-sponsoring the Las Vegas tent for the festival.

This year the festival will be staged May 18, 19 and 20. The traditional event features carnival rides, games, live entertainment, arts and crafts and a 10 kilometer race.

For further information about volunteering call 942-6852 or 941-4422 (evenings).

Parking lot plans made

Plans to construct a long-term parking lot in Romulus received final approval from Romulus city councilmembers last week.

Councilmembers granted a special land-use approval for the development site based on a recommendation from the city planning commission.

The development, Jet Away Car Park, will be located along Goddard Road between Middlebelt and Harrison. It will cover approximately 9.4 acres.

Proposing the development to city officials were representatives from Laupmanis Associates, P.C., a Wyandotte firm.

Increased recycling predicted

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus officials recently approved a resolution vowing to increase recycling efforts where possible.

The first role of the city in this effort is to become a source of information, said Melvin Zilka, assistant director of the Romulus Department of Public Works.

"The city should educate people and promote this," he said. "I'm sure there are people already doing this (recycling) in Romulus."

Although recycling still is voluntary, Zilka said he believes it will become mandatory.

"We all will be doing it whether we like it or not," he said.

Meanwhile, the people who recycle now are certainly not out of money, said Diane Nelson, buyer for Nelson Paper Re-

"The city should educate people and promote this. I'm sure there are people already doing this (recycling) in Romulus."

— Melvin Zilka
Romulus DPW

cycling Inc., a Romulus company.

"It (bringing in paper) seems to be a popular thing until people come in and see their return," she said.

Because demand for newspaper is low, prices have dropped sharply, Nelson said. At one time, the company paid $1.25 per pound of newsprint. Today, a pound nets 25 cents.

"It puts a damper on things," she said. "Basically, now it's people who don't want to see the newspaper going to the landfills."

When people bring in other recyclable materials, such as glass or metal, the Nelson staff refers them to the Downriver Recycling Center, a nonprofit facility in Trenton. There, people can even bring in motor oil, Nelson said.

Zilka said he sees the recycling effort growing gradually in Romulus.

"I think it has to come at the homeowners' level," he said.

People should form the habit of recycling their waste—paper, glass, metal and other items, Zilka said.

"To do it any other way would be too costly," he said.

Zilka said plastic waste containers are available with separate sections for each type of waste item. The container makes separation easier.

Some communities even have garbage pick-up by trucks with separate compartments, he continued.

"It's coming," he said of recycling. "It's going to be mandatory. The county will enforce it."

Zilka said he envisions area communities using a semi-truck parked in a central location. People could drop off items, and the truck would carry them to a recycling facility.

Zilka pointed out that along with supplying items for recycling, people must buy the recycled products.

"Recycling is fine, but you also need places where you can sell and reuse the recycled product," he said.

Challenges are a positive for school nurse

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The equation: seven schools divided by one nurse equals one extremely busy person.

Ruth Fairchild has been the only school nurse for the Romulus Community Schools since 1971.

The days are hectic, she said, but Fairchild seems hooked on the job.

"My daughter always says she needs an appointment to see me," the middle-aged mother of four joked.

When talking about her children, Fairchild lights up. The Tennessee native said rearing them successfully is her biggest accomplishment. Her second-greatest feat is her nursing.

On the job, the responsibilities are immense.

"I'm responsible for the health care of between 5,000 and 6,000 kids," Fairchild said. "It's quite a responsibility. I'm always on the go."

As nurse, Fairchild coordinates regular vision and hearing tests for students. Immunizations are another big part of the job.

"I'm a preventive kind of nurse so I really do push the immunizations," she said.

Fairchild constantly finds herself rummaging through student records, finding out

I really like helping them. . . You do see results, you make a small dent.— Ruth Fairchild who needs any kind of shot for the year.

"My goal this year is to search every record in the district. I won't be happy until I have everything on computer," she said.

Although districts are required by law to exclude students without proper immunizations from school, Fairchild said she often comes across those who slipped through the cracks.

Students bounce from district to district, lacking any type of accurate medical records, Fairchild said.

Often students leave Romulus and return years later. The records Fairchild once started for them are often misplaced, she said, so she hangs on to copies for every person that attended the district.

"I'm also available for first aid situations," Fairchild said.

She maintains a schedule of schools to visit every day but is often called to other buildings for minor emergencies.

"If I miss a school, I try to visit the next day."

A less glamorous part of the job, Fairchild checks children for head lice. Eventually, every youngster's head in the district finds its way to her for an examination.

Fairchild recalled one elementary school class who simply did not believe their teacher's claim they had a school nurse.

It wasn't until the teacher called Fairchild to the room that the students placed her.

"Oh, it's the bug lady," the students called her.

Additional responsibilities include coordinating dental and vision assistance programs. Funding is provided by the Romulus Kiwanis and Progressive clubs.

She also works with local families, providing food and clothing, acting as a contact person for medical services and screening toddlers for preschool.

Fairchild said one of the most difficult parts of her job is ensuring parents find proper health care for their children.

The challenges of the job are a big draw for Fairchild. She studied nursing with a major in pediatric care but spent the early part of her career in general practice.

Later, she worked in Appalachia as a public health nurse.

"It was even more challenging there (than her current position)."

The poverty in the mountains made the largest impression on Fairchild.

"You don't realize we have (poverty) here today but we do, and I really like helping them... You do see results, you make a small dent."

Ruth Fairchild must balance her day among each of the buildings within the Romulus Community Schools district along with a private elementary school, St. Aloysius. Despite her hectic schedule, Fairchild said she loves her job and the people she works with. ANP photo by Werner Stocum/staff photographer

Residents group to stop crime

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents in several neighborhoods have joined forces with the police department to prevent crime.

Sgt. Eric Painter of the Romulus Police Department said several neighborhood watch groups are in place in the city. Plans are being made to form more.

Painter coordinates a group in the Birch Run Apartment Complex. Another group near the Beverly Road and Wayne area works with Officer Tom Ellis.

The first step to forming a group, Painter said, is to contact crime prevention officer John Smagner at 942-6879. Smagner will help arrange a meeting time and assign another officer to the group.

The person who inquires about a group is encouraged to send flyers or letters advertising the meeting.

When residents first meet, they are presented with basic information about a neighborhood watch and a "block watch sheet."

Organizers ask their neighbors if they want to join the watch. A list of participants is given to the group police officers at the next meeting.

From that point, most groups meet monthly.

During his last meeting, Painter said he discussed Operation Identification, a program that has people engrave their driver's license number on property.

"We can cover any topic you want," Painter added.

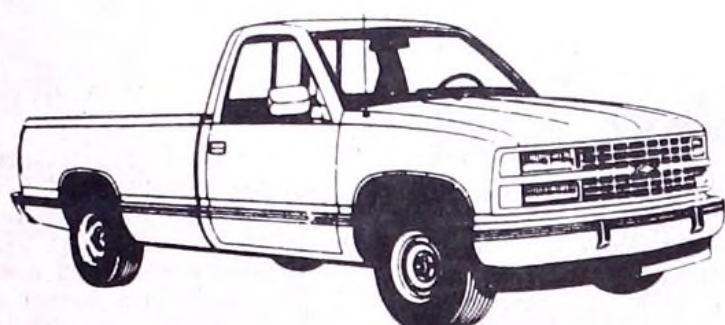

Possible subjects are drugs, robbery or crime prevention for businesses.

"It's just a matter of someone in the community saying we want this," Painter said.

The reason for a crime watch group is to be alert for possible problems in a neighborhood.

"When you hear and see things up front you watch, you see, you call the police," Painter said. "We're teaching you stuff to watch for to make sure you're not a victim."

Freshman is experienced equestrian

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Elizabeth Greca, a high school freshman, has competed in horse shows since she was five years old.

During a competition several months ago, Greca competed for the last time in the 13-and-under category to take in several top places.

Her performance won her the title of Reserve Highpoint Youth for the Buckskin Horse Association of Michigan.

Now, the Romulus student says she intends to continue competing until she is number one in the nation. A passion for horses, she said, is a family tradition.

"My mom's had horses all her life."

Family encouragement started Greca in competition, but she quickly found her own reasons to pursue it.

"Competition, the challenge, it's having fun," she explained.

The teen said she enjoys the chance to compete in different states and meet people. She plans to participate in a Kansas show later this year.

"You meet people that do everything different than you," she said.

Greca's home is filled with reminders a family of horse lovers lives there. Photos of Greca and her 17-year-old sister in competition cover the walls. One table is covered with trophies Greca won through the Wayne County 4-H Club.

During competitions through the Buckskin Horse Association of Michigan, Greca takes in mugs and glasses as prizes. Several of them hang from a display on the wall.

Elizabeth Greca

From the state Buckskin competition Greca received a plaque listing her prizes—first place barrel, second place bareback equitation, second place trail, third place western riding, third place English pleasure, third place English equitation, fourth place western pleasure, fifth place showmanship and fifth place western showmanship.

Acting as translator, Greca said judges watch the horse's performance in pleasure categories. The rider is put to the test in equitation. Trail riding involves an obstacle course.

"You have to be really smooth," Greca said.

In western riding, one must take the horse through a series of gaits—walk, step, trot, reverse and back.

Greca said showmanship is done on the ground. People use a halter to work with their horses.

Elizabeth Greca (above) has earned many awards since she first started horseback riding as a child. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

"It's how you make them respond."

Barrels, Greca continued, is a speed class. The rider must maneuver the horse around barrels arranged in a cloverleaf formation.

Greca said her favorite prize came from her parents.

As incentive to do well during the last competition, Marsha Greca promised her daughter an unbroken horse with which to work. The two other horses Greca and her sister work with are in their mother's name.

Greca's horse is named Rustler Jet Dream—"Dreamy."

"I liked that name when I first saw her," Greca said.

Marsha said breaking in a horse will mean a long period of difficult work for her daughter.

"When it finally does do well, it will be all hers," she said.

Greca explained what is expected from riders during competition. A winner must have excellent communication with the horse, she said, and the rider must maintain perfect form.

"The slower the horse, the better. The posture should be straight up. Your heels should be down. You can't bounce at all."

"Nobody should ever see what it's taking to get the horse to run the gaits," Marsha added.

For example, Greca said tightening a muscle in her leg is a way of commanding her horse.

"Most outsiders just think she's just sitting on the horse," Marsha said.

Along with her devotion to horses, Greca finds time for the school volleyball team and band. In addition, she was named to the high school honor roll.

State task force plans to fight school-funding battle

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

A state group of school board members is preparing to push for change in school financing in Michigan.

The Michigan Association of School Boards is forming a task force that will attempt to increase overall state spending on education, while promoting an amendment to the state constitution that would guarantee equal per-pupil funding for all school districts.

"The task force will provide us with a definitive position and a proposal for school finance reform, while involving our diverse membership in the process," said Justin King, association executive director.

Tom White, legislative relations director for the group, said no school board members have accepted appointments to the post, but that he expects them to within the week.

Officials could not say if any school board members from western Wayne County would be asked to sit on the task force, which is expected to include approximately 20 members.

A cross-section of representatives from urban, suburban and rural districts, as well as in-formula and out-of-formula districts, will be on the task force.

They will begin developing a comprehensive proposal, White said.

"In the past, we haven't had a specific proposal that we have initiated, or that we felt was in the best interest of schools," White said.

The first step will be to develop a consensus among task force members about what needs to be done, he said.

The association has proposed a change in the state constitution. The proposal would add a guarantee that all school districts be funded by the state on an equitable basis.

According to King, the proposed amendment will be presented as a joint resolution in the state legislature.

White said there has been no determination how the task force will advocate more education spending, but said a push for higher taxes is a possibility.

Local home market full of promise for '90s

The housing market – new and old – can only get better in 1990.

That's what those in the marketplace are concluding after reviewing spreadsheets and statistics.

They point to the interest rate to support their predictions – the rate is on the decline.

And it should continue on its downward trend, generating growth and homes. That's the consensus of many bankers, builders and realtors in the area.

However, for newly constructed homes, you're going to have to pay more; for home resales, also more. In both categories, it could be a banner year.

"With the interest rates at around 9.5 percent," said Ted Martin of Red Carpet Keim in Westland, "and the apparent trend appears to be downward, we expect home sales to continue at its present if not better pace."

Martin, however, warned that car sales could toss a wrench into the mechanism.

"If the auto companies have to lay off because of a stockpile of unsold cars, that could have a psychological effect on a potential homebuyer who is working. He will wonder, 'Will I be next' and not be willing to think about making the investment."

In the meantime, realtors and builders have a lot to smile about. The year 1989 was a banner year for most in southeastern Michigan.

Last year, new home permits hit an all-time high: There were 12,000 issued in the seven-county area, including Wayne and Oakland, as compared to 11,500 the previous year.

And, 1989 was the second-best year ever recorded for local residential real estate sales with more homes changing hands than any time since 1978, according to the latest statistics released by the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. With its 1,600-square-mile territory covering northwest Detroit and major portions of Wayne, Oakland, and Livingston counties, Metro MLS tracks market conditions in urban, suburban, exurban and rural areas.

Moreover, in the immediate area, Canton Township and Westland led the home resales category. In all eight of the communities where the Associated Newspapers are circulated, homebuyers paid more for their homes in 1989 than they did the year before.

For example, the median price of a home sold in Westland in 1988 was $57,000; in 1989, it rose to $61,900. There were also more homes available: Of the 1,347 listed in 1988, 916 sold, while there were 1,609 homes on the market, and 995 sold.

In the meantime, and for the first time in Canton's history, median home sale prices broke the $100,000 figure last year.

If in 1988, the median price of a home sold in the township was $96,000, the figure soared to $104,000 last year.

There were also more homes available in the thriving community. In 1988, 1,384 homes were listed for sale and 807 exchanged hands; a year later, 1,256 Canton home owners listed their homes for sale and 830 actually sold them.

Metro MLS noted that the service did establish a new record for residential sales dollar volume by passing $1.7 billion from a median sales price of $77,500. With half selling for less and half for more, the median ended $4,600, or 6.3 percent, higher than a year ago.

"The increase included 418 more single-family homes and 163 more condominiums being sold in our 1,600 square miles than in 1988," said Douglas G. Courtney, 1990 Metro MLS president.

"If sales go as anticipated this year, we could see the 1978 mark eclipsed."

It's an excellent way to launch a new decade, wouldn't you say?

A state task force has launched a program to reduce the use of tobacco products by Michigan residents.

The goal of the task force is to cut tobacco consumption by the residents of Michigan from 29 to 15 percent by the year 2000, State Health Director Raj M. Weiner said.

"Reducing tobacco consumption in Michigan is an essential part of our long-term struggle to reduce the burden of suffering and death due to chronic illnesses such as heart disease, cancer, diabetes and fire-related injuries," Weiner said.

The 45-member task force has published a report entitled Tobacco-Free Michigan 2000 with 40 recommendations for reducing tobacco use.

The task force was created by Weiner last year and includes representatives of various organizations and concerned citizens.

"We must create a society in which tobacco use is unacceptable," Weiner said. "There can be no better legacy to present to the next generation than a state in which the avoidable disease and death caused by the use of tobacco has been eliminated."

Weiner said each year more than 16,000 Michigan residents die from tobacco-related disease, and the tobacco industry must recruit 126,000 new tobacco users to replace those who have died or quit.

The task force group advocates the licensing of tobacco retailers, eliminating tobacco sales from vending machines, banning the distribution of free or discounted samples of tobacco products and strengthening anti-smoking education as strategies to keep children from becoming users.

"More girls than boys begin smoking by the time they graduate from high school," Dr. Erwin Bettinghaus, Michigan State University dean and member of the National Cancer Advisory Board. "Thus Michigan women are at high risk for tobacco-related health effects and death."

Some of the task force recommendations include:

- Raising tobacco excise taxes to reduce the demand for tobacco products among children and adolescents;
- Requiring cigarettes and cigars sold in Michigan be self-extinguishing to reduce fire dangers;
- Prohibiting all forms of advertising and promotion of cigarettes, smokeless tobacco and other tobacco products;
- Extending the Michigan Indoor Air Act to the private sector.

EXCITING CONTRASTS IN POLAND
In Poland you will see first hand the exciting contrasts of the historic past, lovingly preserved, and the dynamics of democratization at work under the aegis of glasnost and perestroika. In Warsaw, the capital city, you can visit Old Town, rebuilt with reverence out of the ashes of World War II. There you will find the beautiful Old Market Square, the Barbican and medieval defence walls.

Warsaw is also proud of its Jewish Ghetto Memorial, dedicate to the thousands who died under Nazi brutality. Driving along the Royal Route, site of so many milestones in Polish history, you will come to the 18th century Lazienki Palace and nearby the famous sculpture of Chopin, surrounded by rose bushes.

Other attractions only a short drive from Warsaw are the Chopin family manor set in a gracious park at Zelazowa Wola, and the center for folk art in Lowicz.

There is a 9-day tour, including air from Detroit, for as little as $1169.

Tobacco free state by the year 2000?

A task force established under the state Department of Health has vowed to drastically cut tobacco use in Michigan by 2000.

Although we admire their dedication to the cause of a smoke-free environment for us all, we must take pause to consider the consequences of calling a halt to the business of selling all tobacco products and the likelihood of such a turnaround.

Smoking is a dangerous habit which afflicts those who engage in the practice of smoking as well as those who keep company with smokers. We support the businesses that have prohibited smoking on their property, and we congratulate the workers at these establishments who have kicked the habit. The management of Associated Newspapers has even turned the corner, and made smoking on the premises illegal.

Some of the conclusions and recommendations of the task force are certainly worthwhile, but others seem out of line in a realistic world.

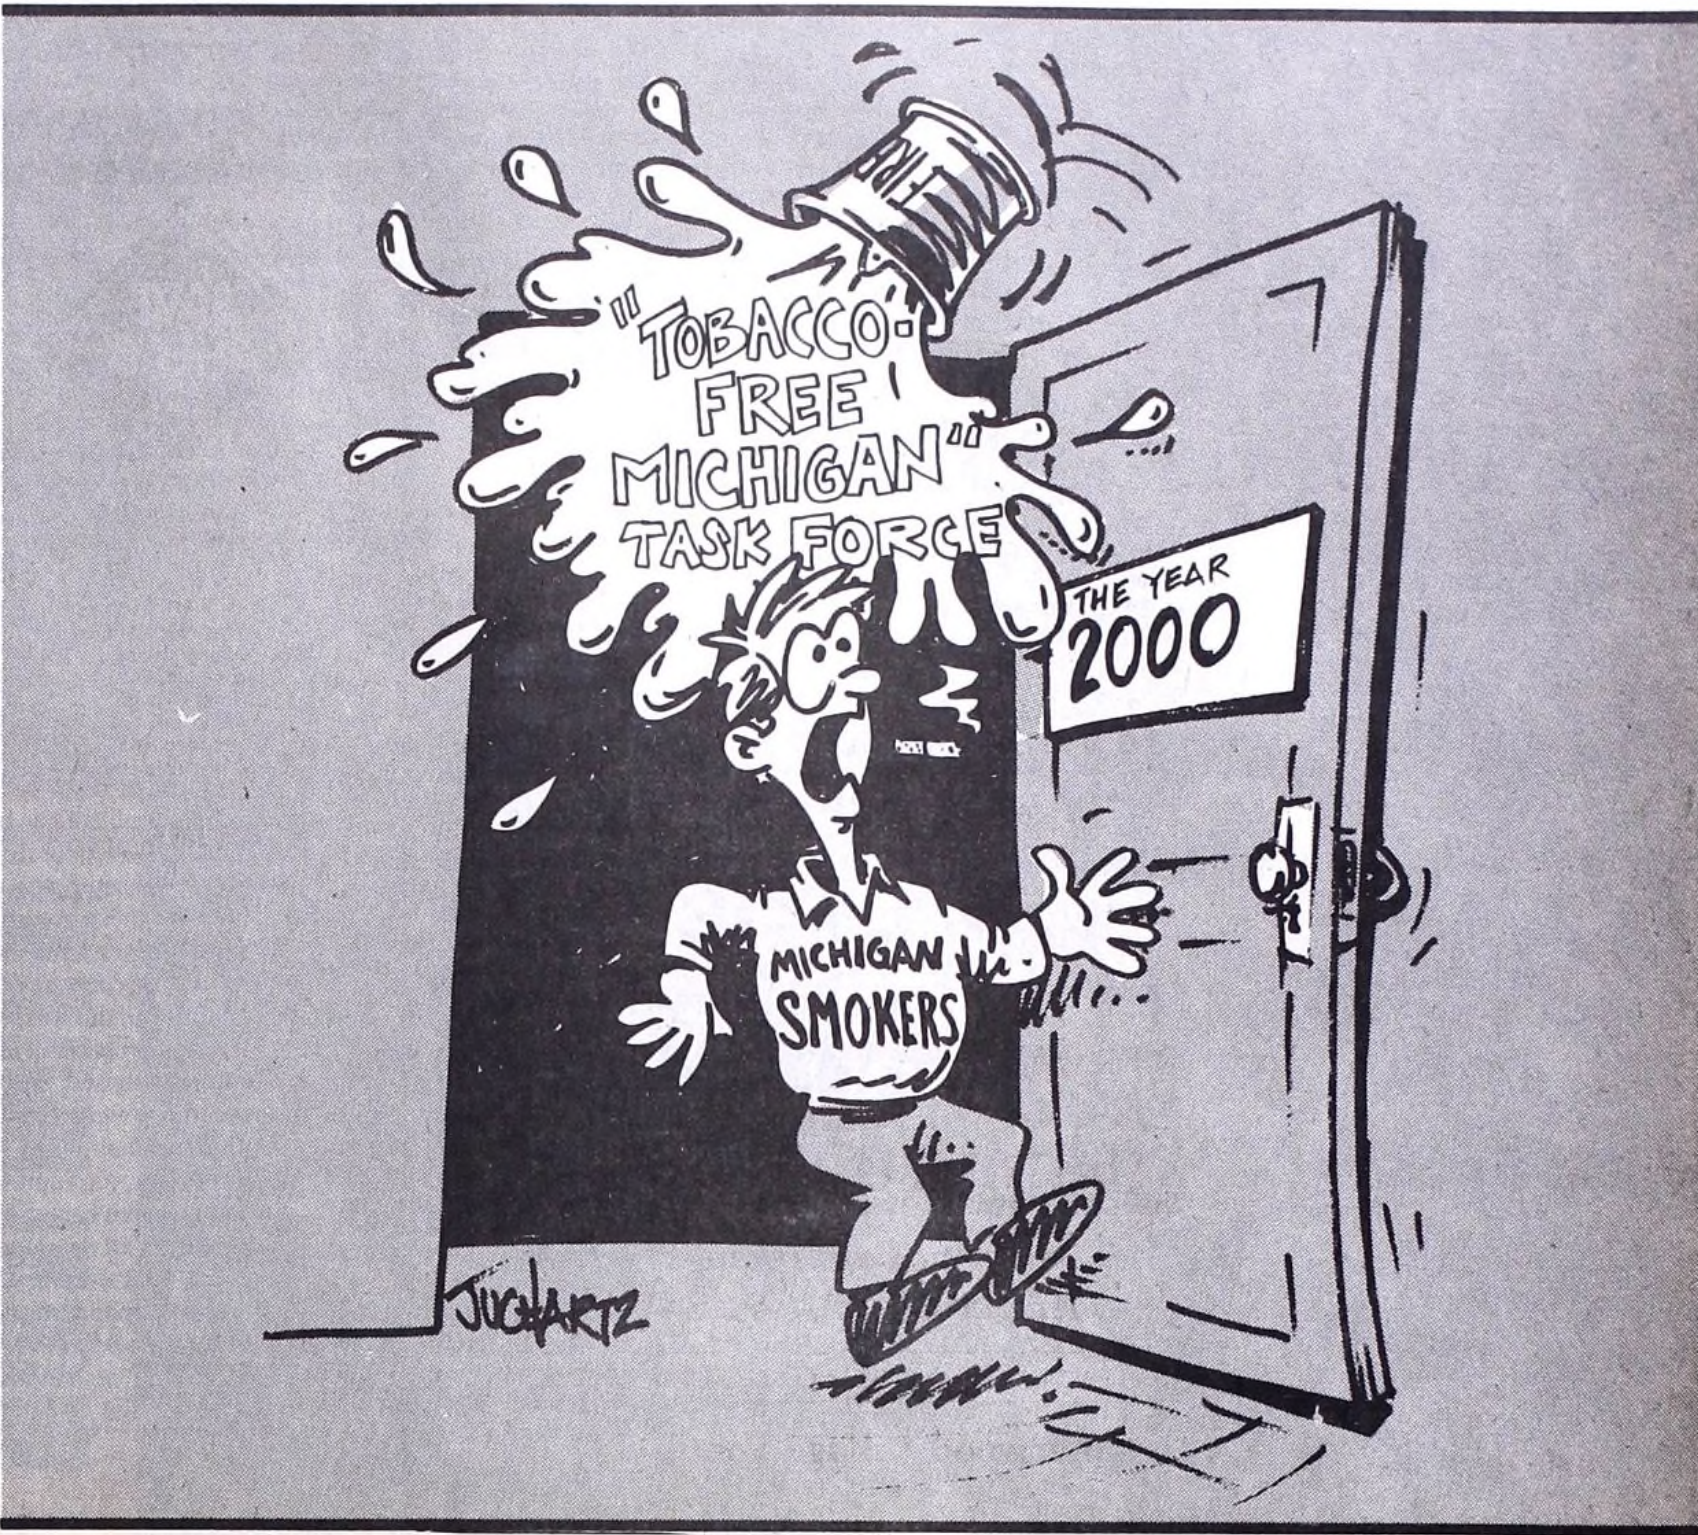

Throwing physical roadblocks in the way of tobacco producers may be considered restraint of trade, and be pursued as such by leaders of the industry. Prohibiting all advertisement of tobacco products, and limiting the means by which it is distributed might also be considered a blockade of the free enterprise system.

Task force recommendations to alert young people to the dangers of smoking while at an early age, extending the Michigan Indoor Air Act to the private sector and increasing the excise tax on tobacco products, however, are all realistic.

Before regulating private business to the point that they are strangled—resulting in lost jobs and income—perhaps we should enforce the other recommendations and let nature take its course.

A more educated consumer will look to smoking as the killer it is, and the tobacco industry will die a natural death due to a decrease in demand.

At any rate, we wish the task force much luck, and hope to hear of smoke-free future.

Letters are disputed

Mr. Melvin Straight has had a series of "letters to the editor" since the February 8 Special Election was scheduled. In those letters he has identified himself as "Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee." Until now I have not responded to his negative thrust because I had confidence that our Wayne-Westland school district voters would recognize his ulterior motives. However, his letter published in the January 25 edition of the Eagle and the calls I have received from people who know his background and cannot understand his behavior, prompted my response.

First of all, Mr. Straight is an employee of the Wayne-Westland school district, a counselor at Wayne Memorial High School. The committee with which he identifies himself is a misnomer for a few people who I believe oppose school taxes regardless of the consequences. The Associated Newspapers attempted to arrange a meeting with their representatives and school district personnel to address the issues of the election. The committee refused to accept the offer because they "didn't have the time." It seems to me that it would be important enough to take the time to get the facts if they were going to take a position on the issues.

As superintendent of schools, I reluctantly recommend a local property tax increase to provide our students with a quality education because the state government has failed to provide equitable funding for local school districts. The millage proposals are for only two years so that we can continue to pursue our efforts at the state level for the long term while providing a quality program for our students for the next two years. This goal which asks local taxpayers to sacrifice for our young people is certainly a challenge, without Mr. Straight's committee spreading misinformation, distortions and outright lies.

While Wayne-Westland school employees strive to conserve tax dollars, through their work ethic, Mr. Straight continues to waste our resources through his self-righteous personal demands under the Freedom of Information Act. In our efforts to provide any records or data he requests, inordinate time and money have been expended to respond to his numerous demands. The epitome of this waste is exemplified in his demand for a nonexistent communication or letter which his imagination must have created. His pursuit of this phantom document through the courts cost the Wayne-Westland taxpayers $6,000 to defend what was ultimately dismissed without a trial. The judge determined that the document did not exist, which he was told from the very beginning. Then, when he refused to acknowledge the Court's dismissal of his frivolous lawsuit, the judge ordered him to repay the district $750, a token compared to the actual costs. When he and his committee claim to be the "watch dog" of our tax dollars, and his selfish demands cost our students that kind of money, I question his motives.

Another issue in his letter of January 25, with which I take strong exception, is Mr. Straight's allegations that this administration regards parents as "unconcerned bumbler." As a 30-year employee and active participant in any activity which positively affects our community, as well as the parent of five children who attended Wayne-Westland Community Schools, I have had the privilege to meet literally thousands of parents and taxpayers. Although during that time it has been necessary to "agree to disagree" on some issues, I have never to my knowledge belittled anyone and am proud to have a record of cooperating with parents in an understanding, respectful manner while working with their sons or daughters.

Mr. Straight went on to say that the only time "kids" are mentioned is when we are asking for increased taxes to spend on administrative salaries. First of all, my career and the careers of most of the people whom I respect in our district are dedicated to "kids." He and his committee certainly don't have "kids" as a priority when they constantly bang the efforts of district employees.

Secondly, Mr. Straight's memory must be short or he has changed his position. In 1983-84, the Wayne-Westland school district was financially desperate. An agreement was worked out with every employee group to take concessions. Every employee sacrificed fringe benefits and wages across the board. When Mr. Straight's own union agreed to those concessions to help the district through the tough times in order to deliver education for "kids", Mr. Straight took exception. In the subsequent election for the presidency of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, Mr. Straight ran against the incumbent who had recognized the dilemma and negotiated the survival agreement. Although Mr. Straight was soundly defeated, and failed to persuade his colleagues, his campaign issues included the attack that the WWEA should have never taken concessions.

To attempt to correct each of Mr. Straight's false allegations would require extending this response, which is already too long. However, as another example of his misinformation is the statement that "carpet for the superintendent's headquarters (is) never cancelled." In his distorted way, that statement could be defended as true...because carpeting has never been ordered, so it couldn't be cancelled. There has been no new carpet or replacement carpet since the central office was built, never mind the "superintendent's headquarters," if that means my office.

In some respects, I regret writing this letter. My reaction has nothing to do with my own position as superintendent because controversy is expected and I believe "if you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen." Asking for more taxes even for the education of our youth is never popular and we do so very reluctantly. However, when we have no alternative and the opponents resort to misinformation to defeat our efforts, it would be irresponsible if I didn't respond and correct the record. I only ask that you review the facts and weigh the effects of your decision when you vote.

The three proposals on the Feb. 8 ballot are for the short haul, a two-year projection. We will continue to work for changes in Lansing to get funding equity for our school district. However, we need your support for the three proposals on February 8 to maintain our current educational programs for "KIDS."

Dennis O'Neill
Superintendent of schools

Education is costly

I am sure that everyone knows that quality education is costly. And in order to ensure a bright future, we must provide quality education to the young people in our community. At present, there is a crisis facing the Wayne-Westland Community School District: bankruptcy.

There are two solutions to the problem. The first, the easy way out, is to make drastic cuts in the length of the school day. Art, music and physical education would be threatened, as well as extra-curricular activities and bus transportation. This seems to be a foolish solution, since it will grossly reduce the quality of education in our schools.

The second solution seems a bit tougher. It involves passing three proposals: one, a renewal of 2.75 mills; the second, an increase of 4.9 mills for operations; and third, an override of the Headlee Amendment, allowing the district to levy taxes for the full millage rate voted by the people. Yes, taxes will go up. However, our students will continue to receive a quality education and will not suffer due to lack of funds.

For whatever reason, the first solution looks so much more inviting. Perhaps it is because some feel that they should not have to pay any more for education, and that the system needs to budget money better. This may be true. However, there are alternatives of voicing disapproval toward the school board or any school system employee. But by taking the easy way out, the students will be the ones that will suffer. In the long run, the community as a whole will suffer.

Those opposed to this vital increase in funds may feel that they are sending a message to the state of Michigan about saying "no" to taxes. After all, the state has not properly funded schools (Proof of this is evident when one looks at the money spent per child in two economically different school districts). However, it will not voice anything to the state. It would be a far greater message from the voters in the Wayne-Westland Community School District to voice their support and interest for our schools.

I feel that the proper way to voice disapproval is to talk to school board members, attend and participate in school board meetings, be informed about current legislation, and write letters of concern to our state senators and representatives. By turning down such important proposals, we are only hurting our children and the future of our community.

Gas tax is being considered

A state group of county road commission members has endorsed a motor vehicle fuels tax to fund improvements of county roads in Michigan.

Frank Shellenbarger, president of the County Road Association of Michigan, has said a fuel tax is a fair way to provide money for road repairs.

"The management of Michigan's road commissions must follow and are following legislative directives," Shellenbarger said. "They must also show moral responsibility to their workers and to the public, for whom they work. But it is also our responsibility to inform the public of the need for increased funding."

The group has made no specific proposal for increasing the tax or what amount would be needed.

According to Shellenbarger, expenses for road improvements have increased enormously in recent years.

"Worsening inflation in materials, machinery and labor costs, and the expense of complying with new environmental and safety regulations have contributed to an increase in road commissions' fixed expenses," he said. "This increase in expenses is beyond the control of even the best managed road commission."

He said the problem is beginning to have an effect on road conditions.

"The funding squeeze has already forced road officials in some counties to slow highway maintenance programs," Shellenbarger said.

Robert Mahoney, director of roads for Wayne County, said a fuel tax would be the perfect tax.

Infertility Research and Treatment

How much help will you need to fill these shoes?

A couple trying to overcome a serious fertility problem has basically two options. Seek help from a small fertility clinic associated with a general hospital (a few of these actually attempt fairly advanced procedures like in vitro fertilization). Or choose the Hutzel Fertility Center. The difference is dramatic.

Hutzel's program is medical center- and university-based; encompassing both treatment and research. Unlike general hospitals that mostly apply established technology, a comprehensive clinical and research center like Hutzel actually pioneers and develops new techniques.

Hutzel's century-long leadership in the reproductive sciences includes Michigan's first in vitro fertilization babies, the newest techniques of egg retrieval, and, to date, Michigan's first and only embryo freezing capabilities (which contribute significantly to reducing the risk of multiple births). Hutzel has also pioneered the concept of treating couples rather than individuals. This helps avoid unnecessary delays, expenses and frustration.

Hutzel's extra research and clinical dimension means more hope, every day, for patients with the most complex problems. And, because Hutzel's care costs no more, even couples with less serious problems can afford the extra peace of mind that comes with the Hutzel program.

Infertility programs often require considerable economic and emotional investment by couples. To make the most of that investment, call the Hutzel Fertility Center for more information.

Edsel jolts Eagles

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In the wake of playing some of their best volleyball and defense this season, the Eagles of Romulus didn't expect the jolt they received from their non-conference opponent, Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Edsel brought the Eagles down to earth last week, stunning their opponents, 2-1, triggering a "second look" by Romulus Coach Gail Coleman at her lineup.

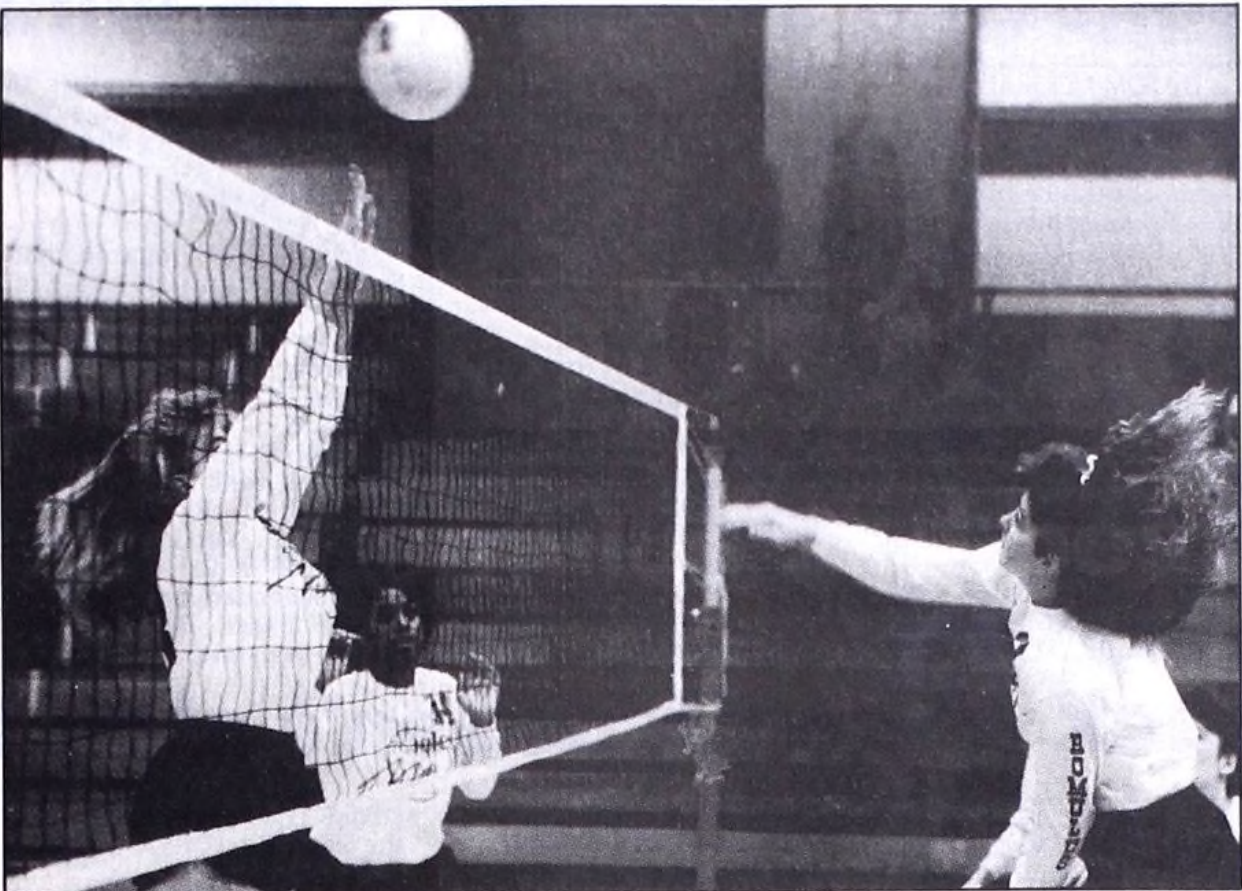

"We just didn't play defense at all," moaned Coleman after the 7-15, 14-6, and 15-8 shellacking at the hands of the Dearborn spikers. "We knew they had an excellent team - that they were a fine blocking team - but we didn't expect this."

Did anything or anyone do anything right, coach?

"Not really. It's the kind of game a coach would like to forget."

The Eagles resumed South Central Conference competition last night against Ann Arbor Pioneer, a team that hasn't won a game in its two initial SCC starts. Romulus will take a 2-1 league record up against the Pioneers.

On Saturday, Coleman and the Eagles will pack up their

Although they are picked to repeat, Romulus volleyballers are taking no chances. "The tournament would be a good key to how we will fare at our own invitational the following week," Coleman said.

Romulus will host the Romulus Roman second annual invitational on Feb. 8 (junior varsity) and Feb. 8 (varsity). The Eagles are the defending champs.

10 teams to seek Romulus Roman title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Defending champ Romulus will be hard-pressed to retain its Romulus Roman Invitational Volleyball crown as 10 girls' teams prepare for the second-annual tournament.

The tournament will be staged on Feb. 10 at Romulus High. "Although we have been playing better than we have, we're going to have to improve greatly during the next couple of weeks if we want to keep the title," said Romulus High coach Gail Coleman. "There are some excellent teams in this tournament."

Seeking to dethrone the Eagles will be teams representing Clarenceville (Livonia), Taylor Baptist Park, Southgate Gabriel Richard, Woodhaven, Melvindale, Taylor Center, Lincoln Park, Dearborn Heights Robichaud and Inkster.

In the inaugural invitation a year ago, Coleman's Eagles had their hands full. They had a tough time in the finals with the Railsplitters of Lincoln Park. The champs needed a rally to pull out a 2-1 victory and the championship.

Coleman sees a rematch with the Parkers as a possibility, "if we can keep our act together."

Romulus blasts Adrian, 93-79, for league win

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Thanks to newly-fitted contact lens, Romulus senior guard Virgil Davis can see life and the basket clearer these days.

Davis wore his newly-purchased lens Friday night and scored a game-high 25 points to lead the Eagles to a 93-79 victory over Adrian. The victory snapped Romulus' three-game losing streak in the South Central Basketball Conference.

Davis has had some problems with his vision, and once fitted with the new contact lens, the problem apparently was resolved, according to the Romulus coach.

"He has (Davis) improved 100 percent," said Romulus coach Chris Molloy. "Obviously, we're all pleased and, though he's always been an inspiration to this team, of late Davis has just been outstanding."

With the senior guard pumping in nine of his 25 points in the first period, the Eagles climbed into a 21-11 lead. But Adrian didn't quit. Their balanced scoring attack, led by Curt Fisher and Mike Forthun, kept the outcome of the game in doubt until late in the final quarter.

Romulus had an eight-point (44-36) cushion at the halfway mark, then Davis was joined by Kevin Brown and Abu Hamilton, who sparked a third-period rally. Brown scored all eight of his points and Hamilton collected six of his 17 as the Eagles glided to a 19-point advantage.

"They (Adrian) refused to quit, and they kept chipping away," Molloy pointed out. "We could never finish them off."

Davis, who hit on 11 baskets and three of five free throws, led all scorers. Romulus also had three other players in double figures. Perkins finished with 19, while Mills counted 18 and Hamilton finished with 17.

Adrian countered with 18 from Forthun and 17 from Fisher, while Mario Patterson contributed 12 for the losers, who were 20 of 26 at the free throw line. The Eagles had a dismal 17 of 37 at the charity stripe.

Earlier in the week, Romulus whipped Temperance Bedford, 88-66, as Mills paved the way for the nonleague win with 20 points. Hamilton chipped in with 16 and Davis had 15.

Bedford had problems coping with Romulus' full-court press and couldn't maintain the Eagles' tempo. The Eagles broke open the game with a 32-point final period after leading 14-13, 39-33 and 56-51 after the first three periods.

Romulus is at home Friday night and will host Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Belleville and Romulus 2nd best at invitational

Tigers have one champ

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference wrestling champ, tuned up for the 1990 championships with an impressive second-place finish at the Mt. Clemens Invitational.

Coach Gerald Malecek and the Tigers were runners-up to Lake Orion, the second-ranked Class A team in the state. The field also included 16 other teams. Lake Orion amassed 211 points as compared to Belleville's 140.5. Flint Kearsley finished third (139), while Warren Lincoln, the fifth-ranked team in Michigan, was fourth (138.5) and East Detroit (115) was fifth.

"I felt the kids did an excellent job over there," said Malecek, whose club will carry a 5-1 conference and a 12-1 overall record into Saturday's league championships. The championships will be decided at Southgate Anderson.

Malecek noted that there were four state-ranked teams in the tournament, and the Tigers managed to finish above all of them with the exception of Lake Orion.

"We're coming into that part of our season where we must be at our peak. We have the league and district wrestling-downs coming up."

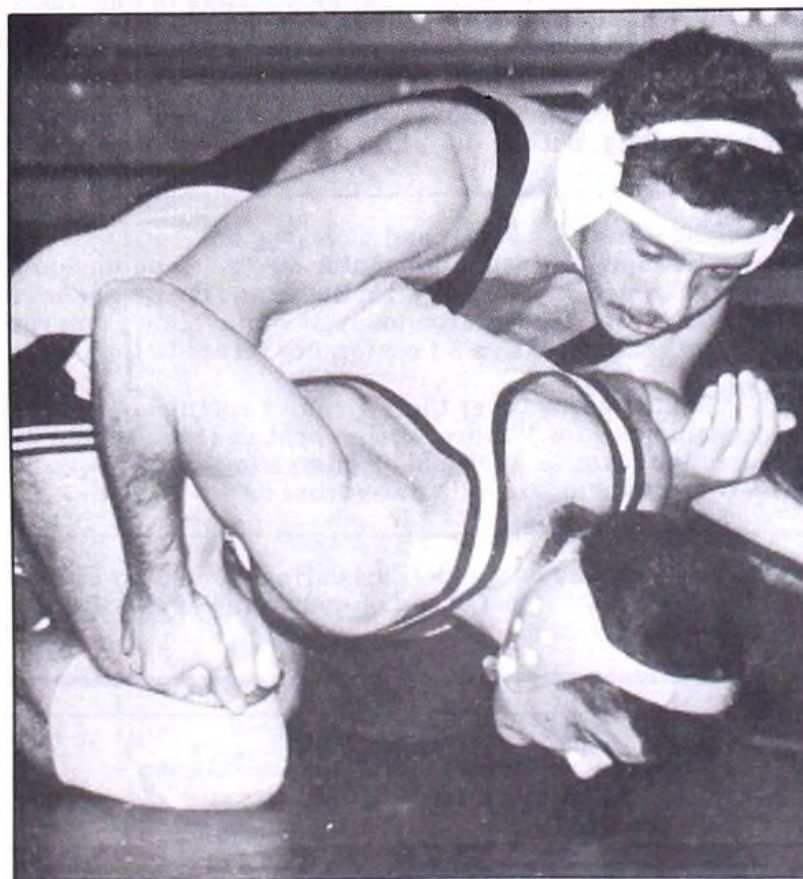

At Mt. Clemens, Belleville's 112-pounder, Derek Reed, continued to collect gold medals.

Reed reached the finals in his weight class and met Flint Kearsley representative, Jason Powell. Powell was ranked second in the state going into the tournament. He proceeded to destroy his opponent, 12-6, for a first-place. Reed was the only Belleville wrestler to win a gold.

Malecek pointed out that Reed survived a thriller bout in the semifinals which pitted him against Lake Orion's 112-pounder who placed sixth last year at state.

Belleville had three second-place finishers: Steven Davis (119), Mike Komaromi (160), and Mike Braswell (171).

Davis settled for a silver when he lost a thriller, 4-3, to Steve

Rice wears the crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Birmingham Brother Rice will wear the inaugural Romulus Royal Wrestling Invitational crown.

Rice earned the title Saturday by beating the host by more than 42 points. Romulus was runner-up, with 117.5 points, followed by Redford Catholic Central (110.5), Lansing Sexton (101.5), Harper Woods Notre Dame (92), Lansing Eastern (88.5), Mt. Pleasant (62) and Livonia Churchill (13).

Churchill replaced Bay City Western, which cancelled out because of a flu epidemic.

"It was an excellent tournament," said Romulus coach Norm Butler, "in fact, we are considering upping the number of teams to 12 next year. All of the coaches who participated expressed a desire to return."

Romulus produced three invitational champs, a pair of runners-up, and two other medalists. (Medals were awarded to the top four finishers in each of the 13 weight classes).

Representing Romulus in the winner's circle were brothers Dale (103) and David (119) Gehringer, along with Bruce Boyd (135). Romulus was second with Billy Lincoln (140) and Scott Murawski (160), while Mike Sculley (112) finished third. Brian McNett (125) and Jason Schmidt (189) finished with fourth-place medals.

Dale Gehringer boosted his personal record to 28-4 on the year with a 7-2 victory over Julio Hernandez of Lansing Sexton in the finals. The Romulus grappler won the title with a 7-2 decision.

David Gehringer turned back Mt. Pleasant's Benji Moffit, 13-6 in the championship round. He's now 25-3 on the year.

In the meantime, Boyd continued to dominate the 135-pound class as he worked Notre Dame's Eric Kinning over, 6-2, for his gold medal.

Lincoln reached the finals of the 140-pound class and lost 20-4 to the defending champ, Jay Helm, of Catholic Central; Murawski went into overtime with Notre Dame's Jeff Kotas after the two

'Hot-shooting' Airport buries Huron

Jumping out in front 18-2 early in the first period, a torrid-shooting Airport leaped on New Boston Huron and pounded them 79-52 Friday night in a Huron Conference basketball game.

The loss left interim coach Terry Suemnick and the Chiefs with an 0-8 conference record as they prepare to meet River-view on Friday.

Bulldogs improve, not enough to win

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

First-year Robichaud basketball coach Ron Tarrant is still looking for his first basketball victory in the Suburban Athletic Conference.

And, despite the Bulldogs' 0-6 SAC record, Tarrant hasn't given up on his club.

"The last three games have been encouraging," said Tarrant after his Bulldogs came within three baskets, 66-61, of upsetting SAC leader, Oak Park, last week. "I know when you look at our record, it's nothing to talk about. But the team has settled into the pattern I like - and I feel that they are going to surprise a few teams before we hang it up for the season."

Trailing by 18 at the half (42-24), Robichaud rallied thanks to Tyrone Wheatley, Willie Fleming and Frank Hayes to close within a pair of baskets against the Redskins who sealed their sixth straight conference win.

Tarrant also noted that the game was actually decided at the free throw line. The Bulldogs made four of five opportunities, while Oak Park went to the line 36 times and canned 25 charities.

"I usually don't say much about the officiating, but the difference here was so lopsided that it is a cause for concern," Tarrant said.

Wheatley came up with 16 points and Fleming sank 14 while Hayes finished with 11 points.

After traveling to Ann Arbor Pioneer Tuesday night, Robichaud returns home to begin the second round of SAC competition. They'll meet Willow Run.

three weight classes - 152, 171, and heavyweight.

Before traveling to Ypsilanti on Saturday to defend its South Central Conference title, Coach Norm Butler and the Eagles have a date to meet Ann Arbor Huron today at 7 p.m. If they emerge with a victory, they'll take a 3-1 conference record to the league meet.

"It's going to be close over there," Butler commented on the league championships. "Since Adrian beat us, they should be considered the favorite. It should be interesting to see if we can stop them from taking the title away from us."

Trenton, 39-38, in head-on competition during the regular conference year, they must finish ahead of their rivals if they want a part of the championship.

Braswell went into an overtime before he yielded the gold medal to Matt Brady of Flint Kearsley. Brady has earned the distinction of being ranked the best 171-pounder in Michigan this season. The Belleville wrestler surfaced on the short end of a 10-6 count.

The Tigers also received a third-place finish from 189-pounder Jeff Komaromi, who defeated Eric McGhee of Flint Northern, 4-3, in the consolation finals.

In the meantime, Belleville chalked up its fifth conference victory at the expense of Wayne Memorial, 49-21, last Thursday. Wayne, not the formidable power in bygone days, couldn't match-up to Malecek's makeshift lineup.

However, the Tigers will have to be at their peak if they are to salvage a share of the conference title. Because they had lost to

Belleville swimmers in winning lane

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Sweeping 10 of 11 first places against Southgate Anderson, Belleville swimmers returned to the winning lane in the Wolverine 'A' Conference last week.

Coach Greg Cooper's Tigers dunked Anderson, 67-16, for their fourth conference victory in five trips. They are 7-1 on the year. Earlier, Belleville turned back a strong Dearborn Edsel Ford, 99-73, in nonleague competition.

"The victory over Edsel Ford helped put the wind back into our sails," Cooper said.

The Tigers will swim Wayne Memorial tonight at Wayne High for their next conference test.

Against Edsel, Belleville produced three double-event winners in Mike Bird, Trevor Yearly and Bryan Bogardus.

Bird touched in first for the 200-yard freestyle (1:51.75) and the 500-yard freestyle (5:19.44), while Yearly captured firsts in the 200-yard individual medley (2:13.87) and the 100-yard backstroke (1:02.43), while Bogardus emerged with victories in the 50-yard freestyle (24.03) and the 100-yard butterfly (58.58). Belleville diver Robb Elling-ton carded 223.45 points to stash the event in the Tiger win column. Eric Sattler also chipped in a first, covering the 100-yard freestyle in 54.41.

The Tiger medley relay - Yearly, Sattler, Bogardus and Scott Sikes - turned in a 1:51.14, and the 400-yard freestyle relay with Kent Tolliver, Ed Trudo, Brent Held, and Bird was clocked in the first-place time of 3:35.05.

Against the rebuilding Anderson tank team, Cooper unleashed Bird, David Schroeder, Sattler and Phil Bongiorno in the medley and they responded in the winning time of 2:00.9. Belleville won the 400-freestyle relay with Sat-tlar, Bogardus, Bird and Trudo (3:35.05).

The Tigers nailed down the 200-freestyle with Held, in 2:03.97, captured the 200 IM with Trudo (2:21.82) and finished first with Bongiorno in the 50-yard freestyle (25.50).

Sean Garland's 144.65 points won the diving event, while Sikes coasted to a 1:06.38 to win the 100-yard butterfly. Belleville also boasted victories in the 100-yard freestyle thanks to Bogardus's 50.11 performance, and in the 500-yard freestyle as Bird turned in a 5:16.10.

Trudo's 1:07.64 and Sikes' 1:13.62 were the best times for the 100-yard backstroke and the 100-yard breaststroke.

Lack of depth doesn't stop tankers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The lack of depth apparently isn't stopping Robichaud's swim team.

Veteran Robichaud swim coach Jim Hadley is making the most out of his 10 swimmers this year. The Bulldogs, 3-1 in the Suburban Athletic Conference after losing to Willow Run, have posted victories over River Rouge and Oak Park. And, for the first time in 25 years, Highland Park forfeited their meet to the Dearborn Heights swimmers.

"We don't have the numbers this year, and that is hurting us," Hadley said. "But we do have 10 hard-working, dedicated swimmers, including a girl out for this year's team."

Hadley said that four of his swimmers - Robbie Patrick, Rob Stewart, Tony Lario and Gerald Petre - are as good as any in the area. The four proved it at the Western Wayne Invitational, staged Saturday at Wayne Memorial.

The foursome finished second to the host, Wayne, in the medley relay. They set a Robichaud varsity record when they touched in at 1:51.9. Wayne's winning time was 1:51.67.

Wayne won the team championship with 256 points, followed by Westland John Glenn (237), Wyandotte (153), Livonia Franklin (127), Robichaud (117), Dearborn Heights Annapolis (100), Redford Thurston (81) and Garden City (62).

Patrick came away with second- and third-place medals for his efforts in the 200-yard individual medley (2:17.35) and the 100-yard backstroke (1:03.03), while Stewart was second in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:07.47) and fourth in the 50-yard freestyle (24.47).

Petre picked up a pair of fifth places - in the 50 free (24.54) and the 100-freestyle (55.24). Lario accounted for a fifth place in the 100-yard butterfly (1:03.77) and was 11th in the 500-yard freestyle (5:52.52).

Although Robichaud's Jennifer Johnson didn't place, her 2:41.2 established a Robichaud record in the girls' 200-yard freestyle event.

Hadley, the dean of area swim coaches, and the Bulldogs will return to SAC competition at 4 p.m. today when River Rouge will be in town.

When the right sneaker fits, exercise, run and jump in it

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Staff Writer

In the slick and sophisticated marketing world of athletic shoes, where corporate executives know the majority of their consumers are so trendy it doesn't matter as much what goes into a shoe as to what name and day-glo colors go on it, how can a shopper get a good value?

The answer is with each athletic shoe shopper. The individual needs of the shopper — the feet, the type of exercise program and the expense to be incurred — all must be considered before shopping for the right shoes.

Another consideration, albeit a difficult one, is to determine if the shoes merit paying top dollar for the privilege of wearing it, or if the shoes are a trend.

To be able to decide if a pair of shoes is worth the money, a little knowledge goes a long way.

All shoes have four main parts. The upper is the main part of the shoe, the part everyone notices.

Most uppers are made of leather, but nylon is also found in uppers for its lightweight and "breathable" qualities.

The insole is the part the feet notice. Many shoe manufacturers are using an air insole for added comfort, but all good insoles should conform nicely to the feet, particularly the arches.

The midsole is the suspension system of the shoes. Most of the shock-absorbing ability of the shoes and support originate in the midsole. Shoe designers are working on "energy return," a concept where the shoes add rebound from impact, as well as shock absorption.

The outsole is the bottom of the shoe. Traction and flexibility, as well as durability are the watchwords here.

People need to know their feet and how the shoes will be used before buying.

If a person's feet tend to roll inward while striding, shoes with motion control are required. The shoes also should have durability at the balls of the feet.

The four most popular categories of athletic shoes are running, court shoes, basketball and cross-training styles.

"Brand differences are 95 percent cosmetic and five percent functional in running shoes," said Mark Mahan, manager of the Foot Locker shoes store in Westland Mall.

Mahan suggests consumers look for a running shoe, regardless of the brand, with a big wedge at the heel and arch area of the foot to set the foot in a forward position.

He also recommends a nylon upper to cushion the foot and to allow it to "breathe."

"Leather uppers are too heavy for a running shoe. Leather running shoes are for good looks, or if you're just going to be walking as opposed to running," Mahan said.

Court shoes are designed for the quick stops and turns most court games require. Look for a shoe with heavy lateral support.

Leather uppers provide the additional side support and comfort. The outsole design should provide excellent traction and have a rough feel to it.

Basketball shoes should have a hard carbon outsole, Mahan said.

He believes that while shoes such as the new Nike Pump shoe are a valid innovation to basketball shoes, the bottom of the shoe is the most important in a good hoop shoe.

"They have had pumps in ski boots for years," Mahan said.

Mahan said the popularity of the cross-training shoe has exploded in recent years for a simple reason.

The cross-trainer gives people the best qualities of all types of shoes.

Cross-trainers usually have a combination of nylon and leather uppers, blending lightness and lateral support for running the track or the court. "You should only run about two miles at a time with cross-trainers, though," Mahan said.

The cross-trainers, which Mahan said were made popular by John McEnroe several years ago, also wedge the foot forward for running.

They have air midsoles to absorb shock like the best basketball shoes.

Prices of all athletic shoes vary greatly, Mahan said. Retail prices start at approximately $40 and top out at $170 for the new pump-style basketball shoes.

CARDIAC PATIENTS CAN EXERCISE IN COLD WEATHER

By Clyde Wu, M.D.

Years ago, hospitalized heart attack patients were made to lie immobile in a hospital bed for as long as eight weeks. Patients were not even permitted to feed themselves. In the last 10 years, physicians have found that patients have speedier recoveries (approximately 10 days) and fewer complications with earlier mobilization. Physicians may recommend that patients take a low-level stress exercise test before leaving the hospital to determine how well they are recovering and whether any further intervention is necessary. It is the role of today's physician to help patients understand the value of exercise. The National Heart Institute's Exercise and Disease Project revealed a decrease in fatal heart attacks in patients who exercise even on a short term basis, as well as more favorable psychological, social, and sexual status. Cold weather exercises do pose an additional burden to the cardiovascular system, but that does not mean to hibernate in the winter. Exercise in a protected environment with proper pre-conditioning warm-up is beneficial. Low-risk exercises include walking in a sheltered area such as a shopping mall, using stationary bicycles or treadmills, and doing calisthenics. Highly agile individuals can add skipping rope, swimming, and walking up and down stairs to their exercise menu. All these can be done without visiting expensive health spas or stepping out into the cold. Exercise benefits the entire body, but is especially beneficial to the cardiovascular system. Start exercising slowly, perhaps every other day, then gradually increase the duration and intensity of the exercise. Before embarking on any exercise program, discuss your plan with your personal physician. He or she will help you decide the level of exercise that is appropriate for you.

Trucks, utility vehicles continue to gain popularity

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Staff Writer

Recent trends in American auto-buying habits suggest a strong preference for trucks and sport utility vehicles. While the much larger car segment of the market continues a downward spiral, truck sales are up over 1989 numbers.

And if you believe in consumer survey reports, customers of GMC truck dealerships are treated the best by salespeople and are the most satisfied domestic compact and full-size sport utility owners.

J.D. Power and Associates, a marketing information company, recently completed a study of compact truck purchasers and found customers received the best treatment at GMC dealerships.

The study also revealed customers were more satisfied with their purchases of the GMC S-15 and full-size Jimmy sport utility trucks over any other domestic sport utility truck.

The surveys were conducted three months after consumers purchased a new vehicle. They were asked about the treatment they were given during delivery of the vehicle and the initial quality of the trucks. 1989 was the first year the survey was conducted on compact truck buyers.

Bob Jeanotte, owner of Bob Jeannotte Pontiac/GMC Trucks on Sheldon Road in Plymouth, said his salesmen have had rigorous training in ensuring customer satisfaction, including "Commitment Plus."

"When the customer is taking delivery of his new truck, the salesman will go over every option on the vehicle, showing the consumer how everything operates," Jeanotte said. "This can take 45 to 50 minutes, but it's important to us that the customer is happy when taking delivery of the truck."

Spare Parts

Will Bramlitt, salesman at Jeannotte Pontiac, was rated second of 150 dealership salesmen in the "Commitment Plus" national training sessions.

"The ranking (by J.D. Power & Associates) provides tangible evidence that GMC truck dealers have knowledgeable salespeople who are willing to spend quality time with buyers," said Sandra Dellinger, GMC truck national advertising and publications manager. "GMC truck's image as a prestigious truck is reinforced by this news that our dealers are also highly looked upon by compact truck customers."

Jeannotte believes the old image of the car salesperson is fast fading.

"It's not like the old times when car salesmen would throw the owner a set of keys and say, 'See ya when you're ready to buy another one.' Salespeople have to work with the customer, the service advisors and the management team to accomplish customer satisfaction," Jeanotte said.

Autorama rolls into Cobo Feb. 16

For great food, try Boston

Just Desserts

Sue Willett

It may be fashionable to leave your heart in San Francisco, but mine belongs in Boston.

Remember now, this is the woman who determined that "the city by the bay" was designed only for those who find the Antarctic cold appealing and who found the entire city of New Orleans a serious waste of time. Ah, but Boston. Now there is a city.

In case no one ever told you, the north end of Boston has been transplanted from Rome. There are wonderful Italian restaurants, terrific food shops with items normally only found in Venice or Naples and bakeries that could tempt a saint. The food is simply spectacular and the people are even better.

The historic sites and wonderful Freedom Trail are not to be missed. The Americana abounds, but nowhere are the people friendlier, kinder or more interesting than down in the north end of the city. In short, I loved it.

And, it's a wonderful, warm city. When I managed to leave our return plane tickets on the table at the famous Cheers pub, the formidable bouncer (you never see this guy on TV) only made my beleaguered husband explain the situation two or three times before he allowed him, but only him, to see the manager. Once my spouse was permitted to see Bill Honeycutt, everything was just fine. Manager Bill even helped David go through the 15 bags of lunch garbage, including half-eaten salads, and discarded french fries, to find our tickets.

To David's credit, he hasn't even threatened revenge upon me yet for my carelessness.

As I need as many allies as possible considering my recent crimes against my mate, I secured this wonderful recipe in one of the Italian bakeries we visited. The baker warned me, however, that this does make a large number of cookies. Obviously, this guy didn't know who he was talking to.

Italian lemon cookies

1 cup sugar
3/4 cup butter
6 eggs
1/2 cup milk
5 cups unbleached flour
6 heaping teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon extract
1 teaspoon lemon extract (for frosting)
1 pound confectioner's sugar

In a large bowl, cream the sugar and shortening. Add the eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add the milk, flour, baking powder and extract. Mix well. The dough will be soft. Add more flour if it is sticky. Keep hands well floured to smoothly handle the dough. Break off pieces to form 1-inch balls. Roll each ball between your hands to form a thin roll, like a pencil. Twist it into a mound to form a pyramid shape. Seal the ends or they will separate from the mound and spoil the shape. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven on an ungreased cookie sheet for about 8 to 10 minutes or until cookies are brown on the bottom but light on top. Larger cookies will require 10 to 15 minutes of baking. Remove from the oven and cool.

Combine the confectioner's sugar with the remaining one teaspoon of extract. Slowly add enough warm milk to make a thin frosting. Frost the cooled cookies.

Food

Time to feast

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

It is a time for family, a time for giving and, of course, a time for eating — the Chinese new year has arrived.

Based on a lunar calendar, the new year arrives with the second new moon after the winter solstice, always between Jan. 21 and Feb. 19. This year, the holiday began Jan. 27 and will continue through the week. 4688 is the year of the horse.

According to ancient legend, one day Buddha decided the Chinese nation needed reorganization. On the new year he called in all animals of the kingdom for a meeting, but only 12 beasts came.

The first to arrive was the rat, followed by the ox, tiger, hare, dragon, serpent, horse, ram, monkey, rooster, dog and boar.

Buddha honored them in the order of their arrival, giving each animal a year of its own. Since that time, each successive year of the Chinese calendar bears the characteristics of the animal that gave it a name.

Today, said Albert Cheung, manager of the China Star Palace in Westland, most people celebrate the new year by visiting relatives, as Americans would during Thanksgiving or Christmas.

"It's fun, but over here it's different," he said.

Cheung said he thinks Chinese-Americans place less emphasis on the holiday. Traditions that have remained, he said, include the gift of lucky money. For children or unmarried family members, lucky money can be one penny or a twenty dollar bill. It is usually presented in a tiny red envelope, Cheung said.

Storytelling and fireworks displays are also part of the celebration. At dawn in some families, the head of the household gives a blessing of prosperity for the coming year.

Highlighting the first day of festivities is a big dinner, Cheung said. Each dish served has a symbolic meaning — luck, health, happiness.

Dishes are often chosen because of their name, Cheung explained. One serving might have a name that also means "good luck."

Cheung described a dish containing vegetables similar to seaweed. The plant is mixed with dried oyster to create Ho See Fi Choy which means, "You will be rich," Cheung said.

Also traditional at the new year meal are chicken and fish.

New year, Cheung said, is a time to start fresh in life, to look ahead to positive events.

"Everything will be good," he said, quoting the general holiday philosophy. "Don't worry, you have everything to eat."

The recipes supplied below are appropriate for a new year feast or any time a craving for Chinese food surfaces.

Oriental marinade

2 ounces light soy sauce
1 teaspoon five-spice powder
1 dash cooking sherry
2 slices fresh ginger
2 cloves fresh garlic

Mix ingredients and pour over two pounds chicken. Allow mixture to sit overnight. Then chicken can be barbecued, deep fried, baked or broiled with a special flair.

Barbecued ribs

1 portion light soy sauce
1/2 portion dark soy sauce
1 portion hoysin sauce
3 portions sugar
1 portion cooking sherry
2 portions minced garlic
Ginger to taste

Portions for this recipe are based on the amount of ribs to be served. They can equal one tablespoon, one teaspoon, 1/2 cup, etc.

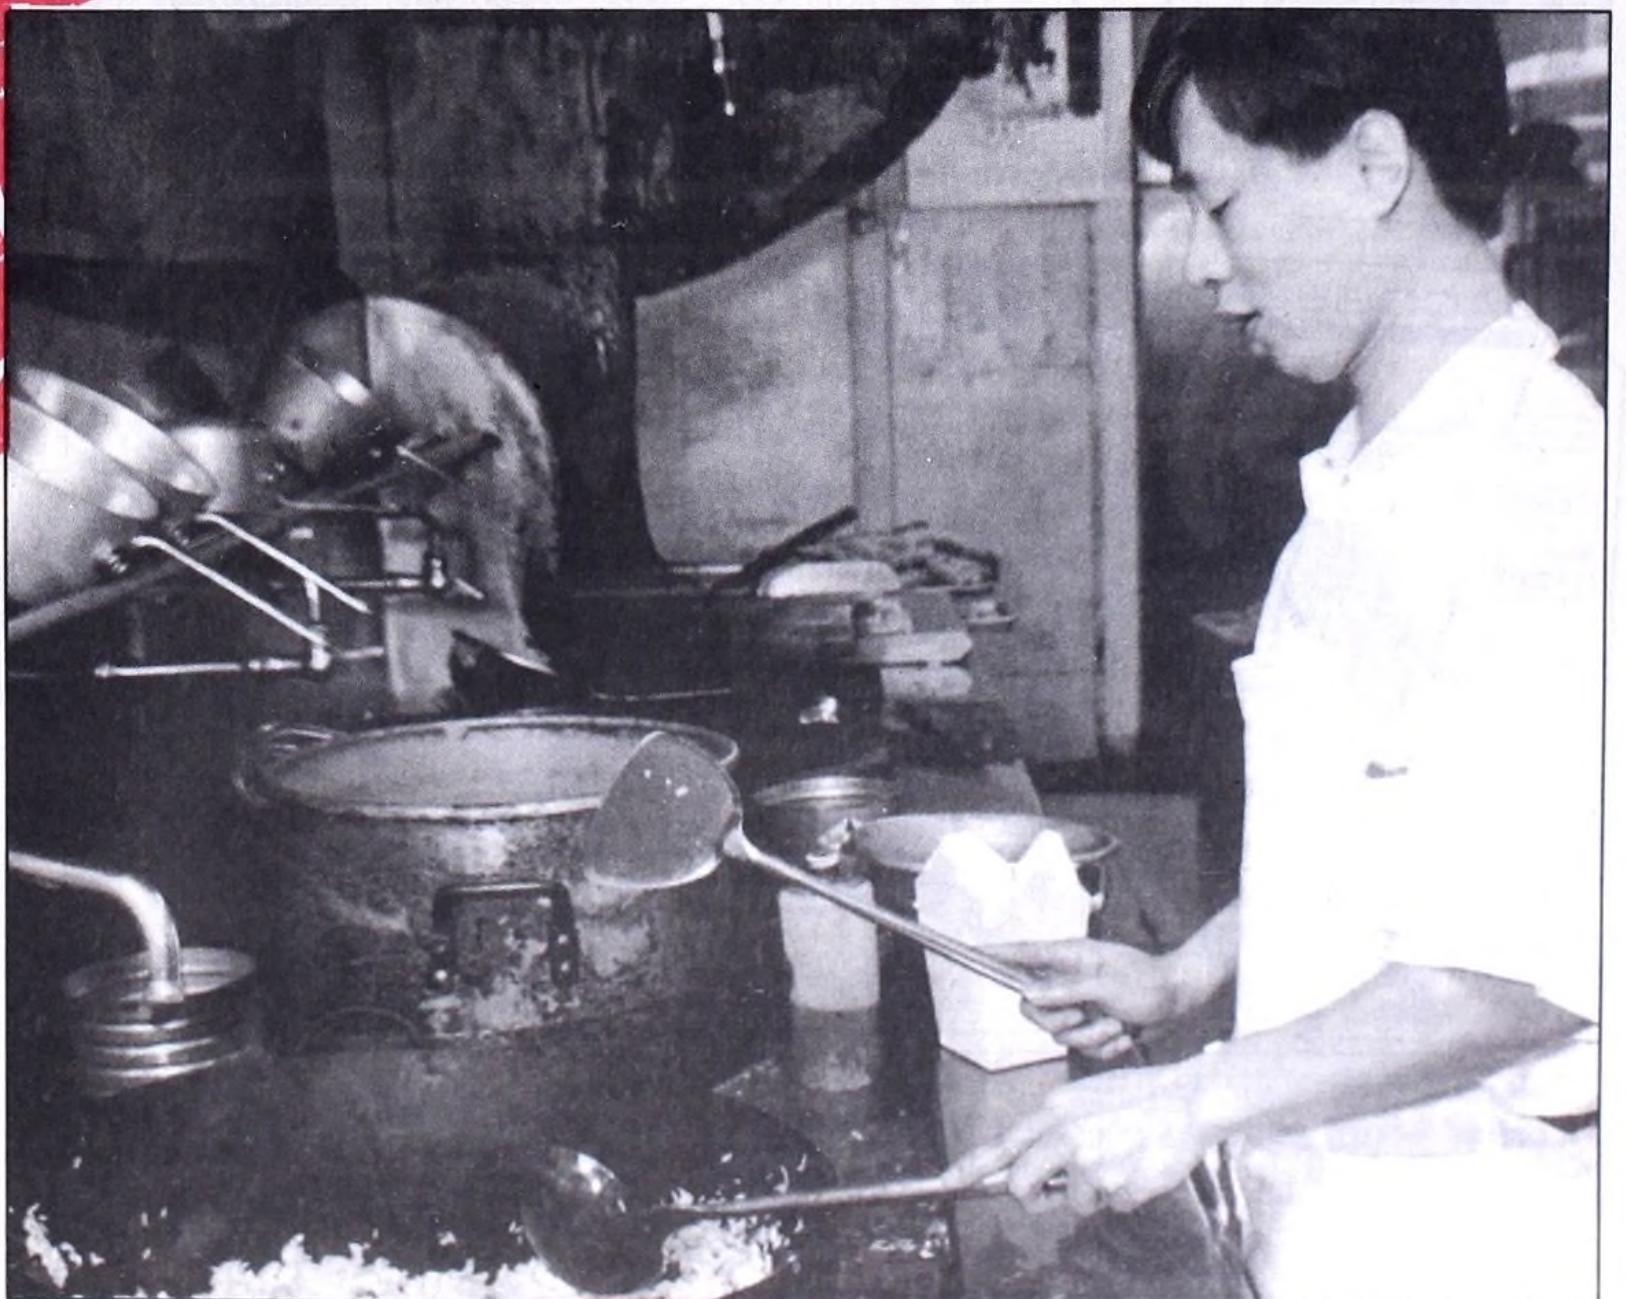

Combine above ingredients and allow to sit at least two hours. Use as marinade with meat and bake in 350-degree oven. This recipe is not recommended for cooking over an open flame.

Egg foo young

1/2 pound fresh bean sprouts
1/2 pound small pieces of pork or shrimp
12 eggs

Cook in skillet meat and sprouts. When done, mix with eggs. Use ladle to spoon out 12 servings (one per egg) into wok or skillet with at least one inch of hot oil. Cook until brown on each side.

The remaining recipes were provided by La Choy foods:

Beef and vegetables in oyster sauce

3 tablespoons oyster sauce
3 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 tablespoon dry sherry or water
1/8 teaspoon oriental sesame oil
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 pound flank steak, cut across grain into 2-inch wide strips
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 cup broccoli flowerettes
1 tablespoon minced ginger root
1 tablespoon minced garlic
1 8-ounce can sliced water chestnuts, drained
1 6-ounce package frozen snow peas, thawed
1 3-ounce can chow mein noodles

In small bowl, mix oyster sauce, water, 1 tablespoon corn starch, sherry and sesame oil. Set aside. In large bowl, mix together soy sauce and 1 tablespoon corn starch. Add meat and toss to coat. Let meat marinate 30 minutes. In large Dutch oven or wok, heat 1/4 cup oil to 350 degrees. Stir fry meat in two batches in oil one or two minutes; remove from pan; set aside. Discard extra oil and wipe pan clean. Add remaining oil to pan and saute broccoli, ginger and garlic over medium-high heat one to two minutes. Stir sauce ingredients; add to pan with water chestnuts and snow peas. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and bubbling. Add meat back to pan, toss to coat and heat through. Serve immediately with chow mein noodles. Makes four to six servings.

DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

New Olive Garden opens

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
ANP Belleville City Editor

Superb Italian cuisine, a varied menu and an attractive cafe atmosphere bring "hospitaliano" to diners at The Olive Garden Italian Restaurant.

With its combination of northern and southern Italian cuisine, an assortment of fresh pasta and a large selection of wines, the restaurant provides a memorable dining experience enhanced by the warmth and openness of the Italian spirit - hospitaliano.

The restaurant, decorated with Italian cafe umbrellas, features a garden setting and al fresco murals. At the entrance to the restaurant, guests can observe chefs prepare different types of fresh pasta which are featured in the dining room.

Lunch and dinner at the restaurant begin with a basket of freshly baked garlic breadsticks - a regional specialty from southern Italy - followed by a classic family-style Italian salad. Diners may choose from escargot, calamari and individual pizzas as appetizers.

Traditional favorites like lasagna, manicotti, chicken parmigiana and ravioli are numbered among the entrees. Also, featured on the menu are northern Italian dishes such as scampi, veal piccata, tortelloni and fettucine alfredo. Regional platters also are available for those who wish to sample several items.

Desserts include cannoli, cheesecake, chocolate mousse pie and ice cream. Unique among the desserts is Zuppa Inglese, a traditional Italian holiday cake made with layers of custard and fruit nestled between rum-soaked sponge cake and covered with whipped topping.

The food and atmosphere rated an enthusiastic response from guests at the opening of the newest restaurant, located at 15355 Eureka, in Southgate. "Marvelous," was the evaluation of the lasagna, made by Nancy Capezza, who specializes in preparing Italian cuisine at home for her husband, Donald, and her children. Her husband and their dining companion voiced agreement, giving special praise to the fettucine alfredo and the cheesecake, topped with Ghiradelli chocolate.

The newest restaurant is one of the more than 150 Olive Garden Restaurants in the U.S. In addition to the Southgate location, which opened Jan. 22, there are eight other Michigan sites in Livonia, Warren, Sterling Heights, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Flint and Portage. "We are very excited to be opening an Olive Garden in Southgate," said Manager Steve Sexton. "We are employing 100 people to serve up a full-service lunch and dinner Italian menu in our 250-seat dining room. Guests can also take advantage of our take-out service at home or office."

Hours are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Local boy finds a 'brother' that he can call his own

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Staff Writer

Eddie Reed was 5 years old when his father left one day in 1978 and didn't come back.

Reed's mother Deborah knew the boy needed a relationship with a male, someone he could talk to about things a young man doesn't want to talk to his mother about.

Deborah Reed had heard about Big Brothers/Big Sisters, a program based at the YWCA building on Michigan Avenue in her hometown of Inkster.

She decided to see if the program could assist her in ensuring her son would succeed through his maturing years, not just survive them.

"When I called Big Brothers, I was told that there was a long waiting list," Deborah Reed said. "I put Eddie on the list and had almost forgot about it when they called a year and a half later to say they had a match for Eddie."

Reed's match was Anthony Thomas, a man from Fort Myers, Fla. Thomas came to Ypsilanti to take a marketing job with a Proctor & Gamble subsidiary.

Though he was a long way from home and years removed from his adolescence, Thomas remembered what it was like to grow up without a father.

His father had died when he was very young, leaving him, his mother and his two younger sisters. Thomas did not have the advantage of having a Big Brother, but he did have a strong grandmother, and she and Thomas' mother made sure the children were raised properly.

"I remember my grandmother always told me to put something good back into the community. I wanted to show kids that if they wanted something bad enough, they could achieve it," Thomas said.

He contacted the Big Brothers/Big Sisters office and went through the screening process required of volunteers before being matched with a 9-year-old from Inkster.

A meeting was set at Reed's house for the two to get acquainted. Thomas was a little nervous, Reed was not.

"I thought it would be fun," Eddie said.

They went to McDonald's, had lunch and then played some video games and created the relationship Deborah Reed had hoped for him. They became friends.

That was the beginning of a six-year friendship. One of the highlights of the friendship between Reed and Thomas was their selection in 1988 to be part of the United Foundation torchlighting ceremonies on Woodward Avenue in Detroit.

The two made a local commercial for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program and met several local celebrities, including Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, Piston Coach Chuck Daly and Red Wing Coach Jacques Demers.

"Even though they have celebrity status, they're still all people," Reed said.

Reed is 16 now, has moved to Romulus with his family and has a job at the local McDonald's. He is bright, outgoing and articulate, a young man with goals.

"I really want to go into accounting, maybe at Eastern Michigan University," he said. In addition to working at McDonald's, he also works at the Romulus High School store, the Eagle Shack. He and his Big Brother still see each other regularly, but the circumstances are different now.

"We used to have to work around my schedule," said Thomas, who has since been promoted and now lives in Southfield. "Now I have to call and see if Eddie's not busy."

The Big Brother/Big Sister program officially ends when a child reaches 18, but Thomas is certain that won't affect his relationship with Reed.
